CASTILLO RECEIVES BUSINESS ACHIEVEMENT AWARD
BRAVO! Award Salutes Leaders of Growing, Innovative Companies

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Cindy Castillo, chief executive officer of CSSI, Inc., was recently selected as one of SmartCEO’s BRAVO! Women Business Achievement Award winners in the greater Washington, D.C., area.

The Bravo! Women Business Achievement Awards celebrate 25 Washington, D.C.-area executives who are active leaders and role models; who believe in building companies that are resources for dependable products and relationships; and who provide services upon which people can and will rely. Each award recipient is also active in her community, participating in philanthropic activities. The awards were presented in a ceremony in July.

“It’s truly an honor to have received this award,” Castillo said. “I’m extremely proud of everything we’ve accomplished here at CSSI, and it’s wonderful to be recognized for our hard work.”

Appointed CEO of CSSI in 1993, Castillo quickly established the company as a premier small woman-owned business. She grew the company from an air traffic management technical services provider through successful graduation from 8(a) status to diversification into new markets, earning a solid reputation for quality, integrity, and loyalty. She continually invests in talent, infrastructure, and resources for CSSI, strengthening both operational efficiencies and core competencies to better serve customers and its employees.

Castillo is actively involved in many charitable and volunteer activities. She is a charter member of Women in Aviation Network (WAVNET), a professional group that promotes and mentors women in the aviation industry. She acts as a mentor in many professional organizations, including the Air Traffic Control Association, the Small and Emerging Contractor Advisory Forum, the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association, Women in Technology, and others. Through CSSI, she sponsors many benevolent activities, from food drives to charitable walks throughout the year, often getting all employees involved.
